Subject: Sex charges sustained against Beach Patrol Officer

Date: Mon, 08 Jul 2024 12:31:06 -0400

To all:

It is anticipated that within the next 24 hours - we (VolusiaExposed.Com) will be publishing the below linked article. (ARTICLE IS STILL IN DEVELOPMENT - EDITS, ADDITIONS, AND SUBTRACTIONS SHOULD BE ANTICIPATED)

Sexual Battery Allegations Sustained
Against Former Beach Patrol Officer

<http://volusiaexposed.com/beachsafety/2024/officerrapoza62024.html>

This article - primarily details the recently sustained sex allegations against former Volusia County Beach Officer David Rapoza. These sustained allegations details Officer Rapoza's on-duty sexual contact with a underage junior lifeguard.(four year investigation)

The article questions why former Officer Rapoza was never criminally charged - and why police officers get off rather lightly when they are criminally charged with having sex with children.(compared to school teachers, etc)

Further, we question, and challenge, an investigative conclusion made by Investigator Jessica Paugh - that a 16 year old victim CAN consent to having sex with a 26 year old police officer. We argue our OPINION that a 16 year old can NOT legally, under Florida law - engage in a sexual relationship with a 26 year old adult.

The article expands it's coverage - in detailing some of the sex scandals within other local law enforcement agencies.

We are open to corrections and comments prior to noon July 9th.
