22. Describe the general nature of your current practice including any certifications which you possess; additionally, if your practice is substantially different from your prior practice or if you are not now practicing law, give details of prior practice. Describe your typical clients or former clients and the problems for which they sought your services.

I represent the Guardian ad Litem Program in cases where appointed by the dependency judge for children under the jurisdiction of dependency court. The program assigns an attorney, a Child Advocacy Manager (employee of the agency) and a volunteer guardian ad litem to represent each child in dependency court. I am certified as a Juvenile Law specialist. My current practice is substantially similar to what I've been doing since 1998, when I began practicing dependency law. However, I have represented three different types of parties in that time. I began representing parents, moved to the Department of Children and Families for about 12 years, and have spent the last five years with the Guardian ad Litem Program.

Prior to that, in private practice I took a number of cases, including family law, dependency, criminal, and a smattering of others. Before private practice, I practiced solely criminal defense with the Public Defender's Office. My typical current clients are representatives of the Guardian ad Litem Program, staff and volunteers, and we work together to determine what is the best interest of each child to whom we are assigned and how to achieve that goal. Typical problems in this work include dealing with crises in the children's lives such as mental health problems, juvenile delinquency problems, trauma from abuse/abandonment/neglect, school issues, and problems related to family poverty. In private practice, I primarily practiced criminal defense, dependency, and family law. Criminal clients sought relief from criminal charges. Dependency clients sought the return of their children or defense to attempts to terminate their parental rights. Family law clients sought efficient divorce proceedings or paternity actions.

23. What percentage of your appearance in courts in the last five years or last five years of practice (include the dates) was in:

	Court		Area of Practice
Federal Appellate	0 %	Civil	0 %
Federal Trial	0 %	Criminal	0 %
Federal Other	0 %	Family	0 %
State Appellate	0 %	Probate	0 %
State Trial	100 %	Other	100 %
State Administrative	0 %
State Other	0 %
TOTAL	100 %	TOTAL	100 %

24. In your lifetime, how many (number) of the cases you have tried to verdict or judgment were:

Jury? Approx. 25 Non-jury? Approx. 25-30
 Arbitration? 0 Administrative Bodies? 0

25. Within the last ten years, have you ever been formally reprimanded, sanctioned, demoted, disciplined, placed on probation, suspended or terminated by an employer or tribunal before which you have appeared? If so, please state the circumstances under which such action was taken, the date(s) such action was taken, the name(s) of any persons who took such action, and the background and resolution of such action.

No

26. In the last ten years, have you failed to meet any deadline imposed by court order or received notice that you have not complied with substantive requirements of any business or contractual arrangement? If so, please explain in full.

No

(Questions 27 through 30 are optional for sitting judges who have served 5 years or more.)

29. For the cases you have tried to award in arbitration, during each of the past five years, indicate whether you were sole, associate or chief counsel. Give citations of any reported cases.

N/A

30. List and describe the six most significant cases which you personally litigated giving case style, number and citation to reported decisions, if any. Identify your client and describe the nature of your participation in the case and the reason you believe it to be significant. Give the name of the court and judge, the date tried and names of other attorneys involved.

1. State v. Jones, 05-1995-CF-024206-AXXX. Circuit Court, Judge Edward Richardson. Lia Allawas for the State Attorney. My client was the defendant, who was charged with Armed Burglary of a Dwelling, and Robbery with a Deadly Weapon. I filed a motion to suppress my client's confession, which I argued was obtained following a lengthy, improper interrogation. The motion was granted. Despite there being no other evidence to identify my client, a trial was held on March 27, 1996, and the defendant acquitted. This case was significant because it was the first time I was successful at suppressing evidence in a case with serious charges and securing an acquittal.

2. In re: C.H. and A.L., 05-1998-DP-2299 and 05-1998-DP-4599. Circuit Court, Judge Kerry Evander. Kelly McKibben and Kelly Swartz for the Department of Children and Families, Sean Anderson for the Father. My client was the Mother, against whom the State had filed a petition to terminate her parental rights following the death of one of the Mother's children. The trial was held on December 6, 8, 9, 13, and 15, 1999. The petition was granted. I also filed the appeal on behalf of the Mother, but the final judgment was affirmed. This case was significant to me because it was the first big trial on a petition for termination of parental rights regarding the death of a child, and the first time I observed autopsy photos of a child victim. The Mother and Father were later convicted and remain in prison.

3. In re: J.B., 05-2014-DP-537. Circuit Court, Judge Kelly McKibben. Greg Eisenmenger for the Mother, Edward Park for the State, Krystal Wald for the Father. Trial was held on August 10, 11, 12 and 15, 2015. I took over as petitioner when another attorney in my office transferred and the trial was set with a judicial advisement that no further continuances would be allowed. I had about two weeks to prepare for trial (as well as another I also inherited, set for the week after this trial) and now know I had inadequate time to fully understand all the factors involved. The petition for termination of the mother's parental rights was denied, and she was ordered to complete a case plan. The case is significant because it made clear to me that despite having solid evidence on one factor, I cannot give short shrift to other factors.

4. In re: J.R. and J.R., 05-2003-DP-32. Circuit Court, Judge John Griesbaum. Shari Wilson for the Mother, George Paulk for the Guardian ad Litem Program. My client was the Department of Children and Families. The trial was on my Petition for Termination of Parental Rights, based on the death of a child. The case was significant to me because the trial required me to prove the facts underlying the criminal charges the Mother faced as well as others related solely to her parental rights. The Court found all grounds proved.

5. State v. Koonce, 05-1995-CF-958-AXXX. Circuit Court, Judge Tonya Rainwater. Phil Williams for the State. I represented the defendant, who was charged with animal cruelty. The State's theory was that the defendant had intended to sexually assault a cat, but was interrupted by a police officer. Every hearing had animal rights spectators present, and there was a lot of press attention. My client decided to enter a plea to the charges without a plea agreement and argue to the Court for a non-incarcerative sentence. There were numerous mitigating factors, and when we presented those to the Court, the sentence was community control and probation, rather than prison. This case was significant to me because it was my first time dealing with such intense press and public interest.

6. In re: W.B., 05-2017-DP-2272, Circuit Court, Judge Charles Crawford. Sean Anderson for the Father, Randol Masters for the Mother, Samantha Gordon for the State, Luis Basagoitia for the Child. My client was the Guardian ad Litem Program and the trial was based upon my petition for termination of parental rights (TPR), which I filed when the State decided not to proceed with their petition for TPR. The trial lasted 3 days and was heard over a five month period. The case was significant because it was a complicated case involving medical records from two hospitals, the Child Protection Team, and an additional doctor. In addition, the State was initially opposed to our petition but by the end of the trial was seeking the same result as the GAL.

31. Attach at least one example of legal writing which you personally wrote. If you have not personally written any legal documents recently, you may attach writing for which you had substantial responsibility. Please describe your degree of involvement in preparing the writing you attached.

I do not do much extensive writing in my current position. However, I write a lot of petitions, motions, and proposed orders. I have attached a motion and petition for termination of parental rights (redacted as appropriate) for a case I recently drafted and filed. These writings were done 100% by me.

50. Describe any additional education or other experience you have which could assist you in holding judicial office.

I have held positions related to law from secretary, to paralegal, to attorney, to supervisor to partner. I feel this gives me a well-rounded understanding of all the aspects of a law firm or agency.

51. Explain the particular potential contribution you believe your selection would bring to this position.

I believe I am fair-minded, justice-seeking, concerned with preventing problems before they occur and taking action to ameliorate problems which have occurred, seeking justice for all parties to an action, and protecting the status of the judiciary. I am also very organized and have good time management skills. I manage a current case load of about 80 cases and, though not required to do so, have taken on the role of petitioner in a number of dependency/termination of parental rights cases to expedite permanency for the involved children.

52. If you have previously submitted a questionnaire or application to this or any other judicial nominating commission, please give the name of the commission and the approximate date of submission.

N/A

53. Give any other information you feel would be helpful to the Commission in evaluating your application.

I believe that I have a good understanding of the issues faced by many citizens of Brevard County. As a wife, I am familiar with family and domestic issues. As a mother, I am familiar with the public school system and issues facing children and teens. As a former sole proprietor of a law firm, I am familiar with the requirements to successfully run a local business. As an agency employee, I am familiar with the limitations applicable to each agency's mandate. Most importantly, I have a strong desire to make our world a better place for those adversely affected by events in their lives, or the actions of others, and to accomplish justice on a case-by-case basis.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR COMPLETING FORM 6:

PUBLIC RECORD: The disclosure form and everything attached to it is a public record. Your Social Security Number is not required and you should redact it from any documents you file. If you are an active or former officer or employee listed in Section 119.071(4)(d), F.S., whose home address is exempt from disclosure, the Commission is required to maintain the confidentiality of your home address if you submit a written request for confidentiality.

PART A – NET WORTH

Report your net worth as of December 31 or a more current date, and list that date. This should be the same date used to value your assets and liabilities. In order to determine your net worth, you will need to total the value of all your assets and subtract the amount of all of your liabilities. Simply subtracting the liabilities reported in Part C from the assets reported in Part B will not result in an accurate net worth figure in most cases.

To total the value of your assets, add:

- form;
- (1) The aggregate value of household goods and personal effects, as reported in Part B of this form;
 - (2) The value of all assets worth over $1,000, as reported in Part B; and
 - (3) The total value of any assets worth less than $1,000 that were not reported or included in the category of "household goods and personal effects."

To total the amount of your liabilities, add:

- (1) The total amount of each liability you reported in Part C of this form, except for any amounts listed in the "joint and several liabilities not reported above" portion; and,
- (2) The total amount of unreported liabilities (including those under $1,000, credit card and retail installment accounts, and taxes owed).

PART B – ASSETS WORTH MORE THAN $1,000

HOUSEHOLD GOODS AND PERSONAL EFFECTS:

The value of your household goods and personal effects may be aggregated and reported as a lump sum, if their aggregate value exceeds $1,000. The types of assets that can be reported in this manner are described on the form.

ASSETS INDIVIDUALLY VALUED AT MORE THAN $1,000:

Provide a description of each asset you had on the reporting date chosen for your net worth (Part A), that was worth more than $1,000 and that is not included as household goods and personal effects, and list its value. Assets include: interests in real property; tangible and intangible personal property, such as cash, stocks, bonds, certificates of deposit, interests in partnerships, beneficial interest in a trust, promissory notes owed to you, accounts received by you, bank accounts, assets held in IRAs, Deferred Retirement Option Accounts, and Florida Prepaid College Plan accounts. You are not required to disclose assets owned solely by your spouse.

How to Identify or Describe the Asset:

— Real property: Identify by providing the street address of the property. If the property has no street address, identify by describing the property's location in a manner sufficient to enable a member of the public to ascertain its location without resorting to any other source of information.

— Intangible property: Identify the type of property and the business entity or person to which or to whom it relates. Do not list simply "stocks and bonds" or "bank accounts." For example, list "Stock (Williams Construction Co.)," "Bonds (Southern Water and Gas)," "Bank accounts (First National Bank), "Smith family trust," Promissory note and mortgage (owed by John and Jane Doe)."

How to Value Assets:

- Value each asset by its fair market value on the date used in Part A for your net worth.
- Jointly held assets: If you hold real or personal property jointly with another person, your interest equals your legal percentage of ownership in the property. However, assets that are held as tenants by the entirety or jointly with right of survivorship must be reported at 100% of their value.
- Partnerships: You are deemed to own an interest in a partnership which corresponds to your interest in the equity of that partnership.
- Trusts: You are deemed to own an interest in a trust which corresponds to your percentage interest in the trust corpus.
- Real property may be valued at its market value for tax purposes, unless a more accurate appraisal of its fair market value is available.
- Marketable securities which are widely traded and whose prices are generally available should be valued based upon the closing price on the valuation date.
- Accounts, notes, and loans receivable: Value at fair market value, which generally is the amount you reasonably expect to collect.
- Closely-held businesses: Use any method of valuation which in your judgment most closely approximates fair market value, such as book value, reproduction value, liquidation value, capitalized earnings value, capitalized cash flow value, or value established by "buy-out" agreements. It is suggested that the method of valuation chosen be indicated in a footnote on the form.
- Life insurance: Use cash surrender value less loans against the policy, plus accumulated dividends.

PART C—LIABILITIES

LIABILITIES IN EXCESS OF $1,000:

List the name and address of each creditor to whom you were indebted on the reporting date chosen for your net worth (Part A) in an amount that exceeded $1,000 and list the amount of the liability. Liabilities include: accounts payable; notes payable; interest payable; debts or obligations to governmental entities other than taxes (except when the taxes have been reduced to a judgment); and judgments against you. You are not required to disclose liabilities owned solely by your spouse.

You do not have to list on the form any of the following: credit card and retail installment accounts, taxes owed unless the taxes have been reduced to a judgment), indebtedness on a life insurance policy owned to the company of issuance, or contingent liabilities. A "contingent liability" is one that will become an actual liability only when one or more future events occur or fail to occur, such as where you are liable only as a partner (without personal liability) for partnership debts, or where you are liable only as a guarantor, surety, or endorser on a promissory note. If you are a "co-maker" on a note and have signed as being jointly liable or jointly and severally liable, then this is not a contingent liability.

How to Determine the Amount of a Liability:

- Generally, the amount of the liability is the face amount of the debt.
- If you are the only person obligated to satisfy a liability, 100% of the liability should be listed.

— If you are jointly and severally liable with another person or entity, which often is the case where more than one person is liable on a promissory note, you should report here only the portion of the liability that corresponds to your percentage of liability. However, if you are jointly and severally liable for a debt relating to property you own with one or more others as tenants by the entirety or jointly, with right of survivorship, report 100% of the total amount owed.

— If you are only jointly (not jointly and severally) liable with another person or entity, your share of the liability should be determined in the same way as you determined your share of jointly held assets.

Examples:

— You owe $10,000 to a bank for student loans, $5,000 for credit card debts, and $60,000 with your spouse to a saving and loan for the mortgage on the home you own with your spouse. You must report the name and address of the bank ($10,000 being the amount of that liability) and the name and address of the savings and loan ($60,000 being the amount of this liability). The credit cards debts need not be reported.

— You and your 50% business partner have a $100,000 business loan from a bank and you both are jointly and severally liable. Report the name and address of the bank and $50,000 as the amount of the liability. If your liability for the loan is only as a partner, without personal liability, then the loan would be a contingent liability.

JOINT AND SEVERAL LIABILITIES NOT REPORTED ABOVE:

List in this part of the form the amount of each debt, for which you were jointly and severally liable, that is not reported in the "Liabilities in Excess of $1,000" part of the form. Example: You and your 50% business partner have a $100,000 business loan from a bank and you both are jointly and severally liable. Report the name and address of the bank and $50,000 as the amount of the liability, as you reported the other 50% of the debt earlier.

PART D – INCOME

As noted on the form, you have the option of either filing a copy of your latest federal income tax return, including all schedules, W2's and attachments, with Form 6, or completing Part D of the form. If you do not attach your tax return, you must complete Part D.

PRIMARY SOURCES OF INCOME:

List the name of each source of income that provided you with more than $1,000 of income during the year, the address of that source, and the amount of income received from that source. The income of your spouse need not be disclosed; however, if there is a joint income to you and your spouse from property you own jointly (such as interest or dividends from a bank account or stocks), you should include all of that income.

"Income" means the same as "gross income" for federal income tax purposes, even if the income is not actually taxable, such as interest on tax-free bonds. Examples of income include: compensation for services, gross income from business, gains from property dealings, interest, rents, dividends, pensions, IRA distributions, distributive share of partnership gross income, and alimony, but not child support. Where income is derived from a business activity you should report that income to you, as calculated for income tax purposes, rather than the income to the business.

Examples:

— If you owned stock in and were employed by a corporation and received more than $1,000 of income (salary, commissions, dividends, etc.) from the company, you should list the name of the company, its address, and the total amount of income received from it.

— If you were a partner in a law firm and your distributive share of partnership gross income exceeded $1,000, you should list the name of the firm, its address, and the amount of your distributive share.

— If you received dividend or interest income from investments in stocks and bonds, list only each individual company from which you received more than $1,000. Do not aggregate income from all of these investments.

— If more than $1,000 of income was gained from the sale of property, then you should list as a source of income the name of the purchaser, the purchaser's address, and the amount of gain from the sale. If the purchaser's identity is unknown, such as where securities listed on an exchange are sold through a brokerage firm, the source of income should be listed simply as "sale of (name of company) stock," for example.

— If more than $1,000 of your income was in the form of interest from one particular financial institution (aggregating interest from all CD's, accounts, etc., at that institution), list the name of the institution, its address, and the amount of income from that institution.

SECONDARY SOURCE OF INCOME:

This part is intended to require the disclosure of major customers, clients, and other sources of income to businesses in which you own an interest. It is not for reporting income from second jobs. That kind of income should be reported as a "Primary Source of Income." You will not have anything to report unless:

(1) You owned (either directly or indirectly in the form of an equitable or beneficial interest) during the disclosure period, more than 5% of the total assets or capital stock of a business entity (a corporation, partnership, limited partnership, LLC, proprietorship, joint venture, trust, firm, etc., doing business in Florida); and

(2) You received more than $1,000 in gross income from that business entity during the period.

If your ownership and gross income exceeded the two thresholds listed above, then for that business entity you must list every source of income to the business entity which exceeded 10% of the business entity's gross income (computed on the basis of the business entity's more recently completed fiscal year), the source's address, the source's principal business activity, and the name of the business entity in which you owned an interest. You do not have to list the amount of income the business derived from that major source of income.

Examples:

— You are the sole proprietor of a dry cleaning business, from which you received more than $1,000 in gross income last year. If only one customer, a uniform rental company, provided more than 10% of your dry cleaning business, you must list the name of your business, the name of the uniform rental company, its address, and its principal business activity (uniform rentals).

— You are a 20% partner in a partnership that owns a shopping mall and your gross partnership income exceeded $1,000. You should list the name of the partnership, the name of each tenant of the mall that provided more than 10% of the partnership's gross income, the tenant's address and principal business activity.

PART E – INTERESTS IN SPECIFIED BUSINESS

The types of businesses covered in this section include: state and federally chartered banks; state and federal savings and loan associations; cemetery companies; insurance companies; mortgage companies, credit unions; small loan companies; alcoholic beverage licensees; pari-mutuel wagering companies; utility companies; and entities controlled by the Public Service Commission; and entities granted a franchise to operate by either a city or a county government.

You are required to make this disclosure if you own or owned (either directly or indirectly in the form of an equitable or beneficial interest) at any time during the disclosure period, more than 5% of the total assets or capital stock of one of the types of business entities listed above. You also must complete this part of the form for each of these types of business for which you are, or were at any time during the year an officer, director, partner, proprietor, or agent (other than a resident agent solely for service of process).

If you have or held such a position or ownership interest in one of these types of businesses, list: the name of the business, its address and principal business activity, and the position held with the business (if any). Also, if you own(ed) more than a 5% interest in the business, as described above, you must indicate that fact and describe the nature of your interest.
