

NINE APPLY TO REPLACE RETIRING CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE TONYA RAINWATER

April 5, 2019

VolusiaExposed.Com has received word (see below email) that nine applicants have applied to replace Brevard's Circuit Court Judge Tonya Rainwater.

The local Judicial Nominating Commission (JNC) is scheduled to meet, and hold interviews with the nine applicants. This meeting is CURRENTLY scheduled for April 23, 2019.

After the completion of the judicial interviews, the JNC will forward a short list of names (usually 3-5) to the governor's office. Governor De Santis will appoint a candidate from that short list to replace retiring Judge Rainwater.

Anyone (public) having comments or concerns regarding any of the applicants – can contact Judicial Nominating Commission Chairman Alan Landman at the below listed email address.

This publication has in the past (October 2018), expressed some concerns to Mr. Landman regarding County Court Judge Michelle Naberhaus. (see below linked article) <http://volusiaexposed.com/brevard/jnc/18thjnc102018.html>

Standby to standby... there is surely more to come of this....
