Describe the general nature of your current practice including any certifications which you possess; additionally, if your practice is substantially different from your prior practice or if you are not now practicing law, give details of prior practice. Describe your typical clients or former clients and the problems for which they sought your services.

I am currently the Managing Assistant State Attorney for St. Johns County for the Office of the State Attorney, Seventh Judicial Circuit. My career as a prosecutor began in 2005, in the misdemeanor division in front of the Honorable Charles Tinlin. After approximately one year, I was promoted to the felony division where I tried numerous cases including capital felonies. In 2007, I was co-chair in a first degree murder trial where the State successfully sought the death penalty. While serving under the current State Attorney, R.J. Larrizza, I was promoted to the position of Career Criminal Prosecutor where I was responsible for handling the most prolific offenders in addition to all sexual crimes in St. Johns County. I was subsequently promoted to my current position of Managing Assistant State Attorney for St. Johns County where I supervise eight Assistant State Attornies, manage thirteen support staff members, and carry a caseload.

During my time as a prosecutor, I have tried over 45 jury trials and spent countless hours in the courtroom. In addition to my trial work and management duties, I am also responsible for numerous 3.850 post-conviction motions, including the drafting of responses and evidentiary hearings. In addition, I handle Baker Act involuntary civil commitment proceedings as well as bond validations for numerous Community Development Districts as required by statute.

While I do not have true "clients", the victims of the crimes I prosecute rely on me to ensure justice is sought in these cases that so profoundly affect their lives.

49b. Have you taught any courses on law or lectured at bar association conferences, law school forums, or continuing legal education programs? If so, in what substantive areas?

I have taught multiple times to the St. Johns County Sherriff's Office, the St. Augustine Police Department and St. Augustine Beach Police Department. Primarily, I teach the areas of search and seizure, quality investigations, and good agency relationships. I have also participated in Detective Academies lecturing on search and seizure and sex crimes investigations.

In addition, I participate in monthly "Lunch and Learns" which the State Attorney's office hosts for continuing legal education. These sessions cover various areas of the law including cross examination, depositions, DUI investigations, technology in the law and domestic violence. I taught a course on domestic violence, "Taking the Fight to Domestic Violence", which was approved for CLE credit by the Florida Bar. Reference Number: 1707197N

50. Describe any additional education or other experience you have which could assist you in holding judicial office.

As a prosecutor overseeing every imaginable type of case, I have developed the ability to compassionately, yet objectively manage any scenario presented. Sometimes as tough as it may be, I have to tell victims of crimes what they don't want to hear when a case falls apart. On the other hand, I have to negotiate with defense attorneys who sometimes don't like my stance when a case deserves certain attention. I have the innate ability to manage all sides of these situations leaving every party feeling like they were treated professionally, fairly, and with respect.

For many years my caseload was exceptionally high, which requires a natural ability to manage time, be a quick thinker and remain calm in the most stressful situations. Many times, I have been approached by fellow prosecutors, public defenders, bailiffs, victims and even judges who respect my ability to remain calm and poised when balancing these demands.

Now, in my current role as a manager, I am able to use my abilities and experience to foster growth in younger prosecutors and mentor them to be effective trial lawyers, fair negotiators and to be professional and respectful when dealing with opposing counsel.

I believe that a judge must be able to calmly listen to all sides of an argument and leave every party knowing their position was considered honestly and objectively without emotional attachment. My experience as a prosecutor undoubtedly leaves me with the experience and ability to strictly apply the law in this manner without imposing my own version of public policy or legislation.

During the course of my career as a prosecutor, I have continued to work on my own time, as approved by the State Attorney, for Dale G. Westling, Esq. I provide legal research and writing to Mr. Westling in the areas of real estate, foreclosure, corporations, family law, landlord/tenant, homeowners associations, and personal injury. I have written several appellate briefs and numerous legal memoranda during this time, which has kept me up to date and expanded my knowledge in these areas of the law.

51. Explain the particular potential contribution you believe your selection would bring to this position.

When I entered Law School, my ambition was to work for the State Attorney's Office for a short term and then venture into private practice. However, after serving as a prosecutor for the past thirteen years, I have found my passion. That passion is for public service and using my skills and ability to make a difference in people's lives. I can think of no other position that is as honorable or meaningful as that of a judge. I am absolutely committed to dedicating the rest of my career to serve as a circuit court judge.

As a prosecutor, I have been in the courtroom constantly, which provides critical "real world" experience in the practice of law. Besides the courtroom experience, I have kept my mind sharp in other areas of the law by completing numerous research and writing projects as described above.

My particular qualities that I believe my selection would bring to this position include possessing a great deal of common sense, a strong work ethic, having an easy temperament, being a quick thinker, not being afraid of confrontation, the ability to handle large caseloads, and treating everyone with respect. In addition, as a circuit judge, my ability to understand and follow the law would be an absolute strength. I don't believe anyone is ever a finished product, and while I am willing and able to continue to learn, I am ready for this challenge and have many years of service to dedicate to this noble calling.

I invite the commission to consult with the attorneys I have worked with and the members of the judiciary I have had the privilege of practicing in front of, as further guidance in this critical vetting process.

52. If you have previously submitted a questionnaire or application to this or any other judicial nominating commission, please give the name of the commission and the approximate date of submission.

Seventh Circuit Judicial Nominating Commission: September 2012 and September 2014.

53. Give any other information you feel would be helpful to the Commission in evaluating your application.

In 1993, while in college, I was arrested for DUI. I pled guilty to the charge at my first court appearance and was placed on probation. I obviously made a very poor decision, which turned out to be an extremely valuable life lesson. My parents basically told me I was on my own and forced me to pay my own way through college. As a result, I took a job selling newspaper subscriptions door-to-door. Little did I know this work experience would provide me with life and people skills that I still utilize today. Door-to-door sales, while not the most glamorous job, is one of the truest ways to force someone to develop the confidence and ability to conduct business with all walks of life. I worked in diverse environments interacting with hardworking families from every conceivable socio-economic background. I have no doubt that my success as a prosecutor and the manner in which I am able to work with new attorneys, experienced attorneys, victims, law enforcement, judges, etc., was shaped in those days knocking on doors.

Undoubtedly, these experiences put me on a path of understanding consequence and responsibility that shaped the rest of my life. I firmly believe this puts me in a position to understand the importance of my role as a circuit judge and the impact I can make in people's lives.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR COMPLETING FORM 6:

PUBLIC RECORD: The disclosure form and everything attached to it is a public record. Your Social Security Number is not required and you should redact it from any documents you file. If you are an active or former officer or employee listed in Section 119.071(4)(d), F.S., whose home address is exempt from disclosure, the Commission is required to maintain the confidentiality of your home address if you submit a written request for confidentiality.

PART A – NET WORTH

Report your net worth as of December 31 or a more current date, and list that date. This should be the same date used to value your assets and liabilities. In order to determine your net worth, you will need to total the value of all your assets and subtract the amount of all of your liabilities. Simply subtracting the liabilities reported in Part C from the assets reported in Part B will not result in an accurate net worth figure in most cases.

To total the value of your assets, add:

- form;
- (1) The aggregate value of household goods and personal effects, as reported in Part B of this form;
 - (2) The value of all assets worth over $1,000, as reported in Part B; and
 - (3) The total value of any assets worth less than $1,000 that were not reported or included in the category of "household goods and personal effects."

To total the amount of your liabilities, add:

- (1) The total amount of each liability you reported in Part C of this form, except for any amounts listed in the "joint and several liabilities not reported above" portion; and,
- (2) The total amount of unreported liabilities (including those under $1,000, credit card and retail installment accounts, and taxes owed).

PART B – ASSETS WORTH MORE THAN $1,000

HOUSEHOLD GOODS AND PERSONAL EFFECTS:

The value of your household goods and personal effects may be aggregated and reported as a lump sum, if their aggregate value exceeds $1,000. The types of assets that can be reported in this manner are described on the form.

ASSETS INDIVIDUALLY VALUED AT MORE THAN $1,000:

Provide a description of each asset you had on the reporting date chosen for your net worth (Part A), that was worth more than $1,000 and that is not included as household goods and personal effects, and list its value. Assets include: interests in real property; tangible and intangible personal property, such as cash, stocks, bonds, certificates of deposit, interests in partnerships, beneficial interest in a trust, promissory notes owed to you, accounts received by you, bank accounts, assets held in IRAs, Deferred Retirement Option Accounts, and Florida Prepaid College Plan accounts. You are not required to disclose assets owned solely by your spouse.

How to Identify or Describe the Asset:

— Real property: Identify by providing the street address of the property. If the property has no street address, identify by describing the property's location in a manner sufficient to enable a member of the public to ascertain its location without resorting to any other source of information.

— Intangible property: Identify the type of property and the business entity or person to which or to whom it relates. Do not list simply "stocks and bonds" or "bank accounts." For example, list "Stock (Williams Construction Co.)," "Bonds (Southern Water and Gas)," "Bank accounts (First National Bank), "Smith family trust," Promissory note and mortgage (owed by John and Jane Doe)."

How to Value Assets:

- Value each asset by its fair market value on the date used in Part A for your net worth.
- Jointly held assets: If you hold real or personal property jointly with another person, your interest equals your legal percentage of ownership in the property. However, assets that are held as tenants by the entirety or jointly with right of survivorship must be reported at 100% of their value.
- Partnerships: You are deemed to own an interest in a partnership which corresponds to your interest in the equity of that partnership.
- Trusts: You are deemed to own an interest in a trust which corresponds to your percentage interest in the trust corpus.
- Real property may be valued at its market value for tax purposes, unless a more accurate appraisal of its fair market value is available.
- Marketable securities which are widely traded and whose prices are generally available should be valued based upon the closing price on the valuation date.
- Accounts, notes, and loans receivable: Value at fair market value, which generally is the amount you reasonably expect to collect.
- Closely-held businesses: Use any method of valuation which in your judgment most closely approximates fair market value, such as book value, reproduction value, liquidation value, capitalized earnings value, capitalized cash flow value, or value established by "buy-out" agreements. It is suggested that the method of valuation chosen be indicated in a footnote on the form.
- Life insurance: Use cash surrender value less loans against the policy, plus accumulated dividends.

PART C—LIABILITIES

LIABILITIES IN EXCESS OF $1,000:

List the name and address of each creditor to whom you were indebted on the reporting date chosen for your net worth (Part A) in an amount that exceeded $1,000 and list the amount of the liability. Liabilities include: accounts payable; notes payable; interest payable; debts or obligations to governmental entities other than taxes (except when the taxes have been reduced to a judgment); and judgments against you. You are not required to disclose liabilities owned solely by your spouse.

You do not have to list on the form any of the following: credit card and retail installment accounts, taxes owed unless the taxes have been reduced to a judgment), indebtedness on a life insurance policy owned to the company of issuance, or contingent liabilities. A "contingent liability" is one that will become an actual liability only when one or more future events occur or fail to occur, such as where you are liable only as a partner (without personal liability) for partnership debts, or where you are liable only as a guarantor, surety, or endorser on a promissory note. If you are a "co-maker" on a note and have signed as being jointly liable or jointly and severally liable, then this is not a contingent liability.

How to Determine the Amount of a Liability:

- Generally, the amount of the liability is the face amount of the debt.
- If you are the only person obligated to satisfy a liability, 100% of the liability should be listed.

— If you are jointly and severally liable with another person or entity, which often is the case where more than one person is liable on a promissory note, you should report here only the portion of the liability that corresponds to your percentage of liability. However, if you are jointly and severally liable for a debt relating to property you own with one or more others as tenants by the entirety or jointly, with right of survivorship, report 100% of the total amount owed.

— If you are only jointly (not jointly and severally) liable with another person or entity, your share of the liability should be determined in the same way as you determined your share of jointly held assets.

Examples:

— You owe $10,000 to a bank for student loans, $5,000 for credit card debts, and $60,000 with your spouse to a saving and loan for the mortgage on the home you own with your spouse. You must report the name and address of the bank ($10,000 being the amount of that liability) and the name and address of the savings and loan ($60,000 being the amount of this liability). The credit cards debts need not be reported.

— You and your 50% business partner have a $100,000 business loan from a bank and you both are jointly and severally liable. Report the name and address of the bank and $50,000 as the amount of the liability. If your liability for the loan is only as a partner, without personal liability, then the loan would be a contingent liability.

JOINT AND SEVERAL LIABILITIES NOT REPORTED ABOVE:

List in this part of the form the amount of each debt, for which you were jointly and severally liable, that is not reported in the "Liabilities in Excess of $1,000" part of the form. Example: You and your 50% business partner have a $100,000 business loan from a bank and you both are jointly and severally liable. Report the name and address of the bank and $50,000 as the amount of the liability, as you reported the other 50% of the debt earlier.

PART D – INCOME

As noted on the form, you have the option of either filing a copy of your latest federal income tax return, including all schedules, W2's and attachments, with Form 6, or completing Part D of the form. If you do not attach your tax return, you must complete Part D.

PRIMARY SOURCES OF INCOME:

List the name of each source of income that provided you with more than $1,000 of income during the year, the address of that source, and the amount of income received from that source. The income of your spouse need not be disclosed; however, if there is a joint income to you and your spouse from property you own jointly (such as interest or dividends from a bank account or stocks), you should include all of that income.

"Income" means the same as "gross income" for federal income tax purposes, even if the income is not actually taxable, such as interest on tax-free bonds. Examples of income include: compensation for services, gross income from business, gains from property dealings, interest, rents, dividends, pensions, IRA distributions, distributive share of partnership gross income, and alimony, but not child support. Where income is derived from a business activity you should report that income to you, as calculated for income tax purposes, rather than the income to the business.

Examples:

— If you owned stock in and were employed by a corporation and received more than $1,000 of income (salary, commissions, dividends, etc.) from the company, you should list the name of the company, its address, and the total amount of income received from it.

— If you were a partner in a law firm and your distributive share of partnership gross income exceeded $1,000, you should list the name of the firm, its address, and the amount of your distributive share.

— If you received dividend or interest income from investments in stocks and bonds, list only each individual company from which you received more than $1,000. Do not aggregate income from all of these investments.

— If more than $1,000 of income was gained from the sale of property, then you should list as a source of income the name of the purchaser, the purchaser's address, and the amount of gain from the sale. If the purchaser's identity is unknown, such as where securities listed on an exchange are sold through a brokerage firm, the source of income should be listed simply as "sale of (name of company) stock," for example.

— If more than $1,000 of your income was in the form of interest from one particular financial institution (aggregating interest from all CD's, accounts, etc., at that institution), list the name of the institution, its address, and the amount of income from that institution.

SECONDARY SOURCE OF INCOME:

This part is intended to require the disclosure of major customers, clients, and other sources of income to businesses in which you own an interest. It is not for reporting income from second jobs. That kind of income should be reported as a "Primary Source of Income." You will not have anything to report unless:

(1) You owned (either directly or indirectly in the form of an equitable or beneficial interest) during the disclosure period, more than 5% of the total assets or capital stock of a business entity (a corporation, partnership, limited partnership, LLC, proprietorship, joint venture, trust, firm, etc., doing business in Florida); and

(2) You received more than $1,000 in gross income from that business entity during the period.

If your ownership and gross income exceeded the two thresholds listed above, then for that business entity you must list every source of income to the business entity which exceeded 10% of the business entity's gross income (computed on the basis of the business entity's more recently completed fiscal year), the source's address, the source's principal business activity, and the name of the business entity in which you owned an interest. You do not have to list the amount of income the business derived from that major source of income.

Examples:

— You are the sole proprietor of a dry cleaning business, from which you received more than $1,000 in gross income last year. If only one customer, a uniform rental company, provided more than 10% of your dry cleaning business, you must list the name of your business, the name of the uniform rental company, its address, and its principal business activity (uniform rentals).

— You are a 20% partner in a partnership that owns a shopping mall and your gross partnership income exceeded $1,000. You should list the name of the partnership, the name of each tenant of the mall that provided more than 10% of the partnership's gross income, the tenant's address and principal business activity.

PART E – INTERESTS IN SPECIFIED BUSINESS

The types of businesses covered in this section include: state and federally chartered banks; state and federal savings and loan associations; cemetery companies; insurance companies; mortgage companies, credit unions; small loan companies; alcoholic beverage licensees; pari-mutuel wagering companies; utility companies; and entities controlled by the Public Service Commission; and entities granted a franchise to operate by either a city or a county government.

You are required to make this disclosure if you own or owned (either directly or indirectly in the form of an equitable or beneficial interest) at any time during the disclosure period, more than 5% of the total assets or capital stock of one of the types of business entities listed above. You also must complete this part of the form for each of these types of business for which you are, or were at any time during the year an officer, director, partner, proprietor, or agent (other than a resident agent solely for service of process).

If you have or held such a position or ownership interest in one of these types of businesses, list the name of the business, its address and principal business activity, and the position held with the business (if any). Also, if you own(ed) more than a 5% interest in the business, as described above, you must indicate that fact and describe the nature of your interest.

JUDICIAL APPLICATION DATA RECORD

The judicial application shall include a separate page asking applicants to identify their race, ethnicity and gender. Completion of this page shall be optional, and the page shall include an explanation that the information is requested for data collection purposes in order to assess and promote diversity in the judiciary. The chair of the Commission shall forward all such completed pages, along with the names of the nominees to the JNC Coordinator in the Governor's Office (pursuant to JNC Uniform Rule of Procedure).
